Martin's Bright Future

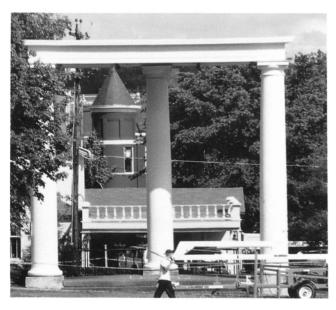

A New Look For An Old Friend

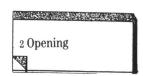

The college annual has been through many transformations to parallel the change that have occurred at Martin. From 1911 through the 1920's the college annual was The Martin Box and each book carried sketches of Purple Martin birdhouses. By the mid 1930's discussions had heated up as to whether men should be admitted to the college. Beginning in 1935 the Martin girls titled their yearbook The Spinster. After males were enrolled in 1938, the yearbook had to be renamed and for the years 1939-1941, the annual was titled The Cardinal. The advent of World War II brought shortages and as a result no yearbooks were published until after peace was achieved. The reemerging annual was dubbed The Martinaire and has been published from 1945 to the present. This year The Martinaire gets a touch-up, and the results speak for themselves.

An Old Friend Brings A New Look To Martin

Mrs. Grace Grissom, Martin Methodist College Trustee Emeritus, has served on the Board of Trustees since 1973, and was the Chair of the Board from 1977 until 1984. The Grissom Gazebo, one of the most prominent landmarks on campus. was donated in 1975 by Mr. and Mrs. Grissom in honor of their daughters, Herberta and Sylvia. In 1999, the projected administration building was named the Herbert and Grace Grissom Colonial Hall. Also in 1999, the renovation of the Grissom Gazebo (as shown to the left) was funded entirely by Mrs. Grissom. The many contributions made by Mrs. Grissom have shown outstanding generosity toward the college and community, an example of giving that we as Martin Methodist students and faculty should strive to follow.

The Year 3

TALENT SHOW

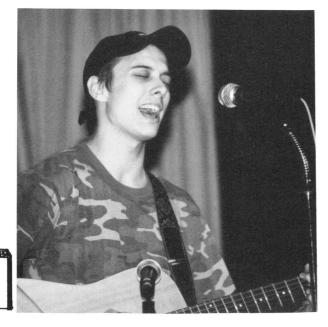

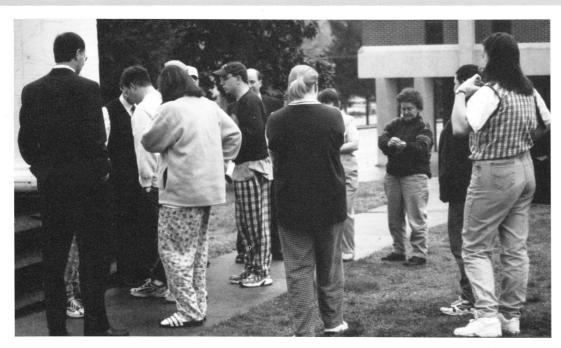

SUNRISE SERVICE

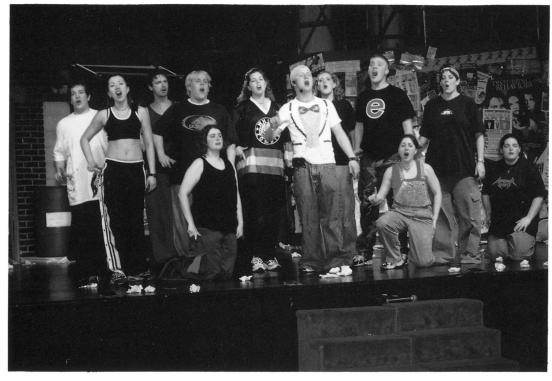

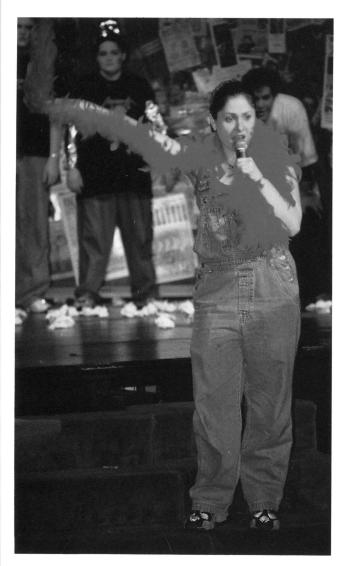

Each year the Sunrise Service is held on the campus green before school lets out for Easter. The students and the faculty gather at the gazebo for a time of song, worship, and fellowship.

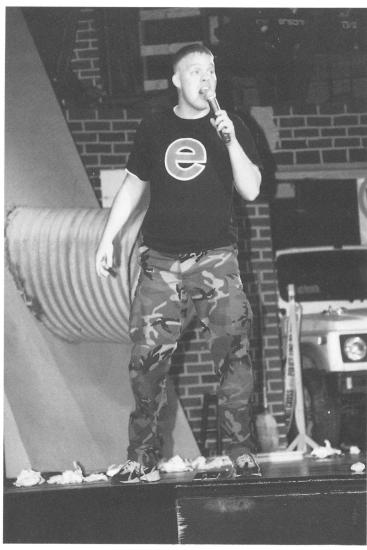

Godspell cast members perform in front of different crowds several nights last spring.

Freshman, Amanda Murra, enlightens the crowd with her acting ability.

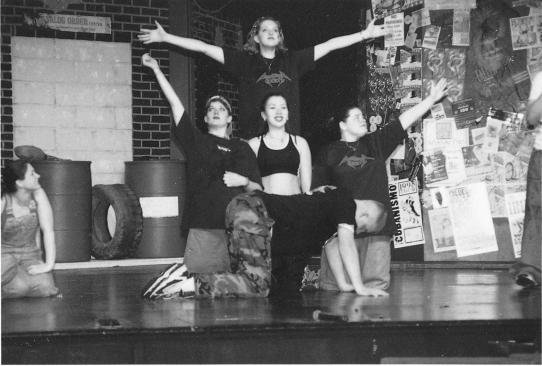

Express Yourself

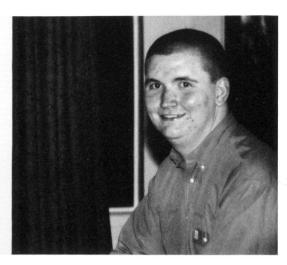

Tony Humphrey, who played Jesus in the production, frequently talks to green frogs on and off stage. In another scene, cast members make up a sacrificial alter.

10 Graduation

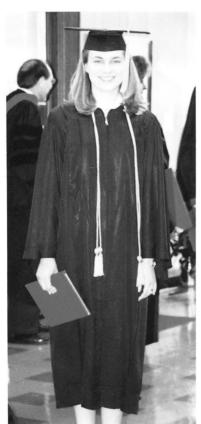

The proud parents of Yukiko Ono-Brace came from Japan to see their daughter graduate.

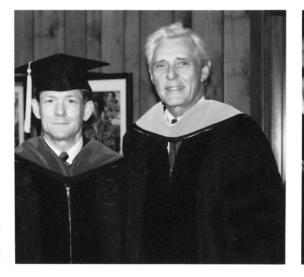

AN EXPEDITION TO EUROPE

Delta International Scholars Program provided Elizabeth Eubanks with free round-trip airline transportation, and the Tennessee Foundation of Independent Colleges gave her $2,500 for Globus Tours "Grand Tour of Europe". She went to eight different countries including Italy, Austria, Switzerland, Germany, Amsterdam, Belgium, France, and England.

AN INVASION OF ISRAEL

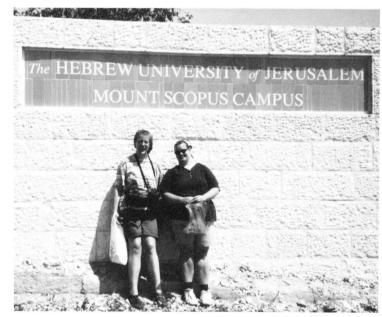

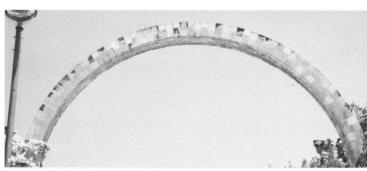

The Zimmerman Program is a Jewish History and Cultural Study Abroad Program that sent Mark Hagewood, Alycia Meadows, and Elizabeth Eubanks to the Hebrew University of Jerusalem. They participated in a study called "Jerusalem Throughout the Ages: A Geographical and Historical Perspective." They took some group tours throughout the city, but still had time for some personal tours also. Pictured to the left are Mark, Alycia, and Elizabeth in their skirts. At center left is Elizabeth at Ben Yehuda. The Church of the Holy Sepulchre is pictured to the right, with Elizabeth and Alycia at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem below it. The Hurva Arch is in the lower left corner, and the Citadel is pictured to the right of it.

THE BOO-OUT

SCREAM IF YOU KNOW WHAT I DID LAST HALLOWEEN!!!

Every year, the Student Christian Association sponsors the Boo-Out for the Head Start Children of Pulaski. This year's activities included fun games, face painting, mask making, a New Orleans cemetery by the Art department, and silly putty making from the chemistry class. Getting in the spirit, not only do the children, but the students of Martin enjoy getting creative and dressing up. A contest for Best Costume was held by the cheerleaders. The winners were "The Dice Girls," located on this page in the lower right corner. Can you guess who these creative and decorative girls are?

SCA CHRISTMAS PARTY

Every year, the Student Christian Association sponsors a Christmas Party for the Head Start Children of Pulaski. The children are invited to come and let Santa Claus know what they want for Christmas and to receive a gift from Santa. To the left are Santa and his helpers: Alycia Meadows, Eileen Foote, Elizabeth Eubanks, Johnny Staggs, and Dr. Pat Whittemore. Helpers that wrapped presents are Cheryl Beth Edison and Labrina Phillips. Also, a few "elves" came along with Santa to help out and wrap presents.

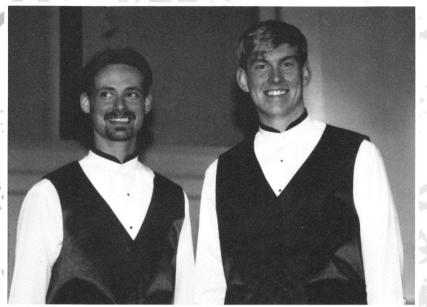

24 SCA Christmas Party

Christmas Choir

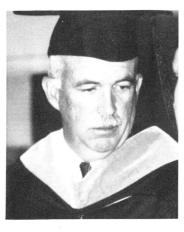

The Martin Methodist College Concert Choir preformed four Christmas concerts. Pulaski First Baptist Church, Centerville UMC, Lynnville UMC and Pulaski First UMC were the locations; those who attended felt blessed by the lovely music. Lead by Dr. Albert Hughes, the choir sang many Christmas favorites and spread lots of Christmas cheer.

NED McWHERTER AWARD OF EXCELLENCE

Every year Martin Methodist College presents this prestigious award to a Tennessean who demonstrates characteristics of competence including persistence in his or her profession, pursuit of ideals, and a passion for excellence. Past award winners include Sterling Martin, Pat Summitt, and Cal Turner, Jr. Country music's Eddy Arnold is the fourth recipient of this award. He has sold in excess of 85 million records and is one of the top recording artists of all time. His other accomplishments include being elected to the Country Music Hall of Fame in 1966, CMA's Entertainer of the Year in 1967, "Pioneer Award" from the Academy of Country Music, and the "President's Award" from the Songwriters Guild. Arnold is the only artist who has received all three of the latter awards. Martin Methodist named this award in honor of Tennessee's 46th governor, Ned McWherter, because he embodies all of the traits this award represents.

CAMPUS LEISURE TIME

During times when students are not going to classes or studying for tests, they find ways to have fun. One of the most popular downtime activities is playing pool in the SUB. Also, students watch movies on the big screen television. Movies like "The Blair Witch Project," "Austin Powers," and "The Matrix" kept audiences scared, tickled, and revved up. Finally, students can be found playing cards. Some of the more popular card games played are Spades, Uno, Phase Ten, and Rummy.

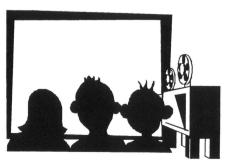

THE MILLENNIUM CELEBRATION

HOW THE MILLENNIUM WAS CELEBRATED AROUND THE WORLD

Millennium Island, Kiribati- The first site to ring in the year 2000, it featured Micronesian dancers and was shown on TV for all of six minutes.

Sydney, Australia- The first major city to see the New Year, performers danced on the sides of the Sydney Opera House and a spectacular fireworks display was held.

Beijing, China- Although the Chinese do not use the same calendar (in fact their calendar is in the year 5000) their celebration consisted of a Millennium Altar, elaborate dances, and an extensive amount of fireworks.

Athens, Greece- The ruins of the Acropolis were bathed in a glowing red fog as the crowd sang ancient Grecian songs.

Cairo, Eqypt- A techno-opera performance featuring ancient Egyptian-clad dancers, fireworks, and a one-of-a-kind laser light show that was projected upon the pyramids.

Robben Island, South Africa- Nelson Mandela lit a solitary "freedom candle" in the prison cell he spent 20 years as a political prisoner.

Vatican City- Pope John Paul II presided over a 6-hour mass, in which he gave his blessing to the crowd for the up-coming year.

Paris, France- Although Paris' Millennium Countdown Clock shorted out 6 hours before unidnight, it didn't stop the dazzling event in which the Eiffel Tower was turned into a fireworks-spewing fountain. Also in Paris, a series of twelve themed ferris wheels were available for the public to ride.

London, England- Queen Elizabeth II tit the 26-ton National Beacon, across the way from London's Millennium Dome. London's giant ferris wheel did not work.

New York, New York- An estimated 2 million people were on hand for the dropping of the Time's Square Ball. It was hosted once again by Dick Clark.

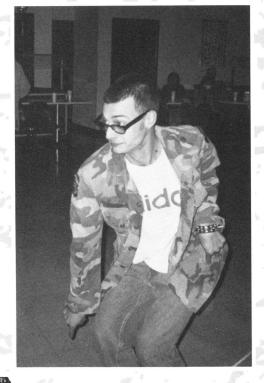

Rio de Janeiro, Brazil- New Year's in Brazil consisted of a 3.5 million person beach party. Note: 3.5 million people is more than the entire population of nearby Uruguay.

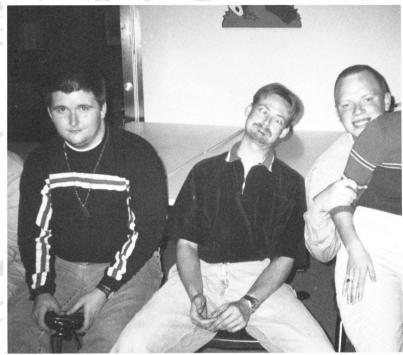

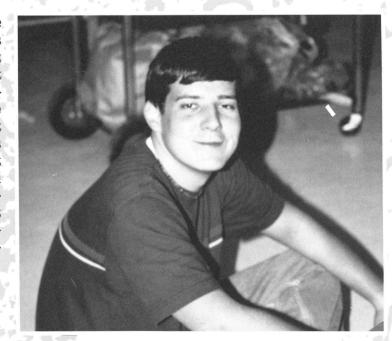

When we asked some Martin students what they did for New Year's, the answers were quite simple. Mari and Amanda said that they stayed home with their families while Labrina Phillips and Kevin Thornwaite partied with their friends. Jeremy said that he sat on the couch and watched t.v. all night. Some were worried about the y2k bug but mostly all were just concerned with having a good time and rolling into the year 2000.

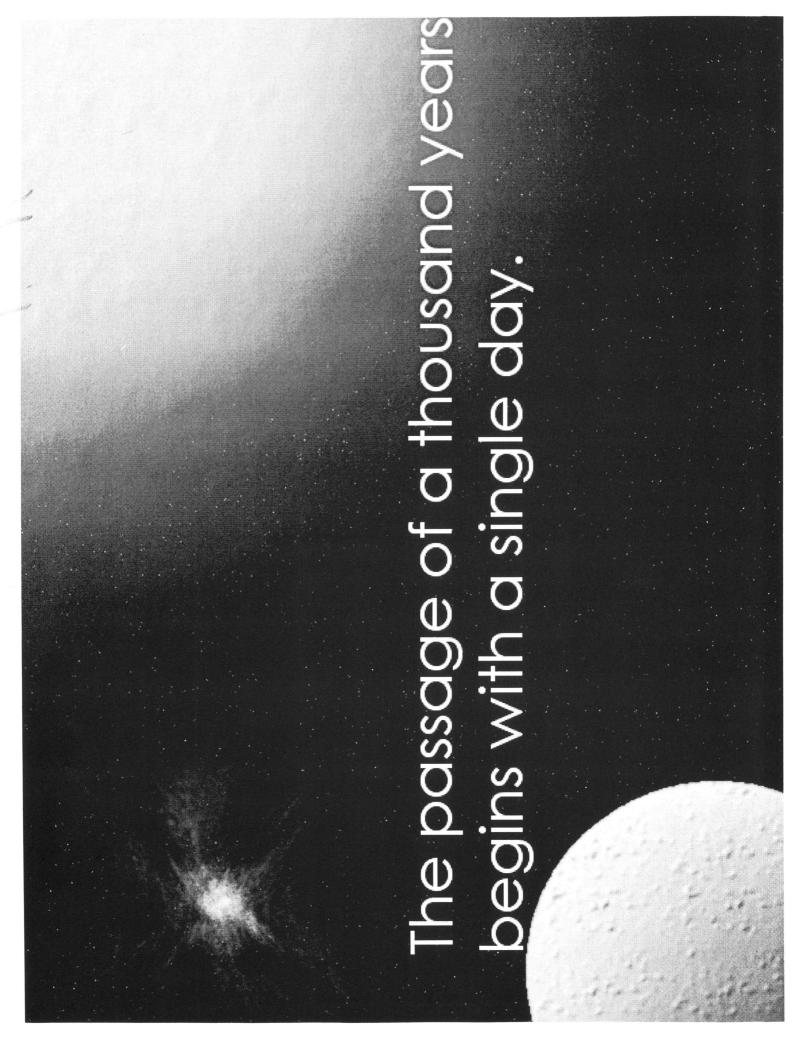

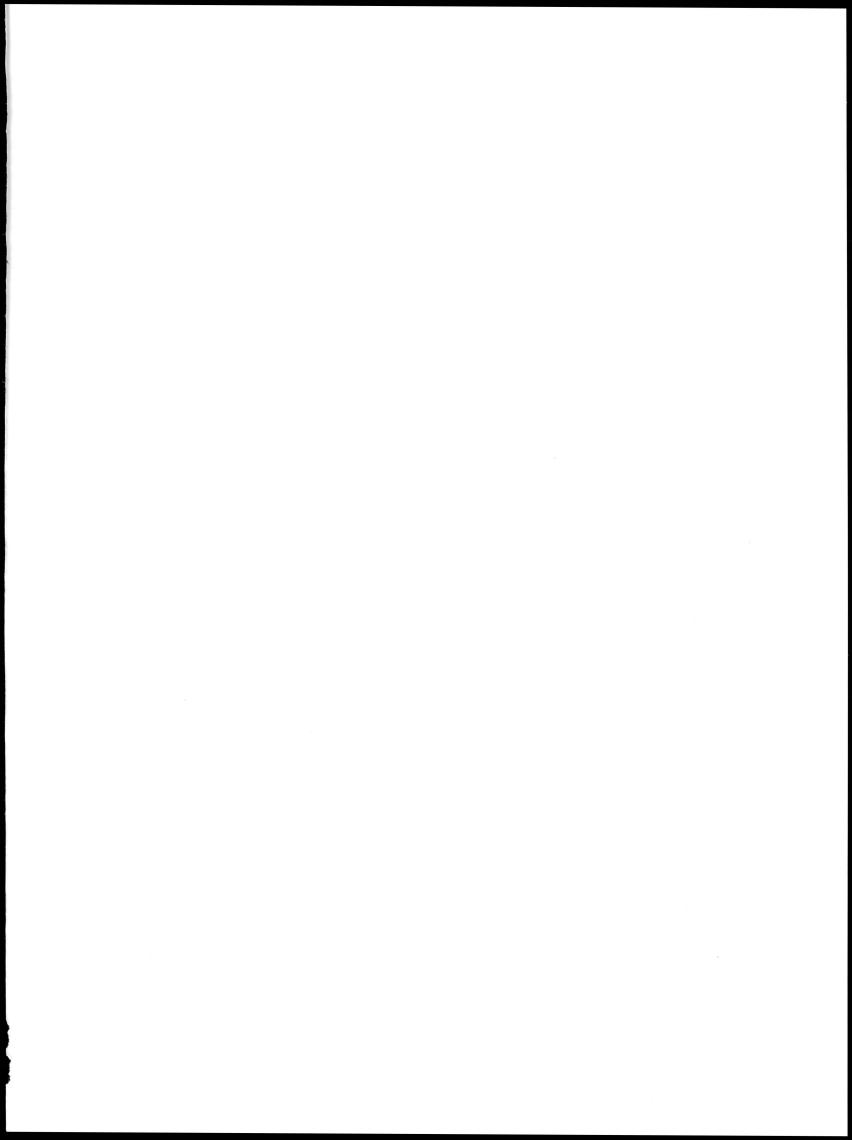

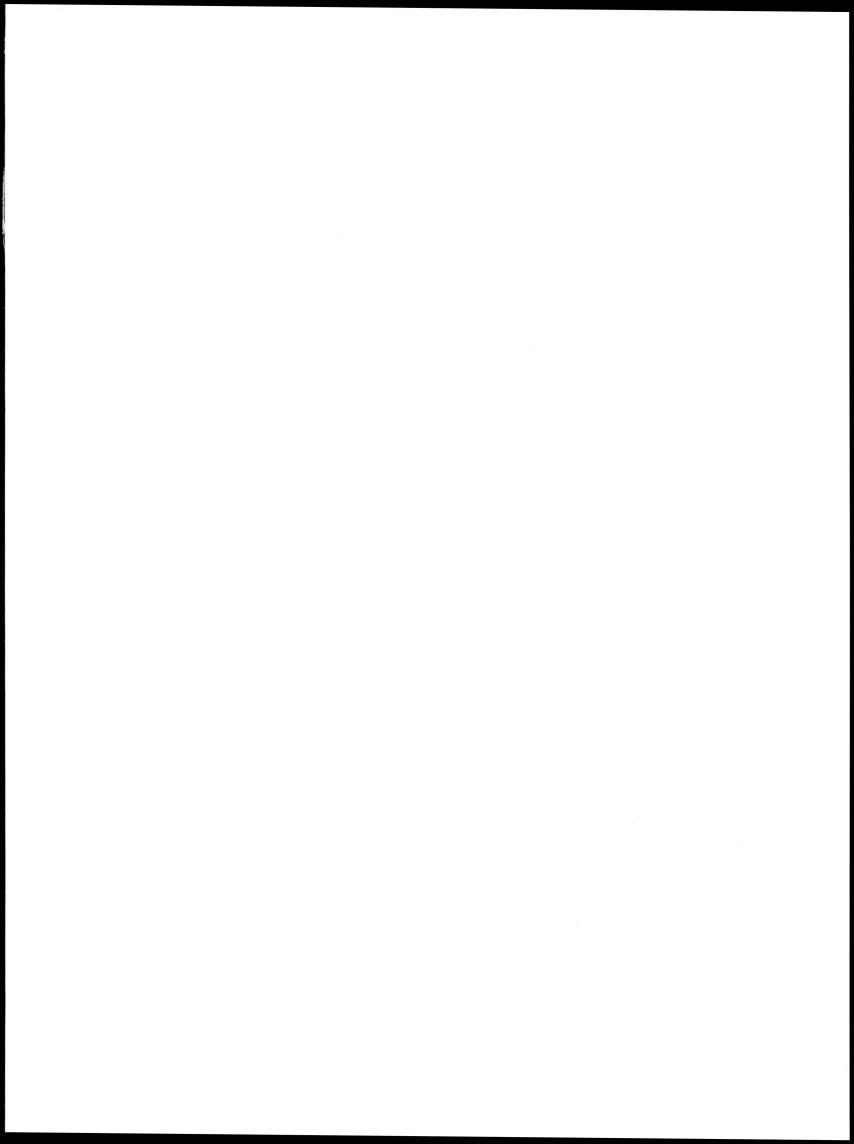

Another question that we asked the students was when you were a child what were your concerns about the year 2000. Amanda Murra's answer was that she could have cared less about the year 2000 when she was a kid. It was the farthest thing from her mind. Mari Kline and Jeremy Atkins' answer was that they thought that everything would remain normal and that nothing terrible would happen.
